Posted February 27, 2019 Submitted by a parent The teachers and the board of this school are top. They work very hard to make sure the students learn and try their best to be successful later. Posted on April 5, 2018 Submitted by a parent The teachers are great at this school! My kids love cotton creek posted April 23, 2017 Submitted by other Cotton Creek's staff is truly committed to making sure kids are successful. I couldn't have imagined a better school. Posted on May 10, 2016 Submitted by a Parent Love the Teachers and Staff. School contains a wonderful before and after school program that is very affordable and my girls love it. I've been at Cotton Creek for 7 years and the school staff, administrators and parent community have inspired my husband and I to do more for our kids and the school. Public schools are losing funding and it's going to build a community on each other to make it through. My youngest will be done with 5th grade soon and move into high school, but I plan to keep helping where I can. This is how This school is. I can't imagine a better school for my girls to have the pleasure of going to. They grow up in a diverse community. They get to experience friendships with children with backgrounds and challenges. To the parent who had to withdraw their children because of the visit of the police..... The school is just doing their job. Good luck at your next school and leave them a few phone numbers for you so they'll be able to get a hold of you if you forget to call in an absence. Posted April 26, 2016 Submitted by a parent I saw an earlier post regarding law enforcement coming to a house to check on a student. I'm sorry that this has upset this particular family, but I see it very differently. It is reassuring to know that the school takes the safety of the students seriously and for me this is a positive for Cotton Creek. Since the tragic murder of Jessica Ridgeway, I understand that new procedures have been put in place to ensure the safety of our children. If a child is not present at school and there is no family contact to let the school know of this absence (such as calling the attendance line, or office) then the school has an obligation to follow up with the parents/caregiver. If the school can't get a hold of the family then they have an obligation to send someone to the student's house. In the review, the parent said he didn't call the school, so that means the principal has to go through the next step if he's doing his job right. In the end what is important is that the child was fine and responsible. But I know that if it was my child, I would have been grateful that the school gave enough to continue until they knew my child was safe. I don't see this as curious or the school trying to take over the parenting of my child – I see this as a caring community doing their job. Cotton Creek has a huge heart and my experience has been a great one for the past 7 years. Posted August 18, 2014 Submitted by a Parent This is a great school with a traditional neighborhood feel. It has dedicated teachers, staff and a principal who does his best every day. It's not everyone's idea of perfect, but if you're looking for a good, well-rounded education for your kids, with a diverse population and the inclusion of special needs in the classroom, this is the place to bring your kids. It's a home for all families. Cotton Creek has a GT program and special needs programs, with clubs/activities to grow your little ones into something special. Take your whole family to Cotton Creek and tour the place to see what you think. Come and see for yourself what a great school this is. Posted May 17, 2014 Submitted by other interesting how all negative reviews of this school mysteriously disappear – let's see how long mine stays. Listen, and listen carefully: Cotton Creek abused the CO educational laws, which judge the school in favor of parents. Ignore them or defensive about questions and concerns about your child's education, they have a serious bullying problem, the teachers don't have the training or tools they need to do their job (some have overcome this and are doing great, but unfortunately unfortunately just a few), they have used state budget issues as an excuse to cut corners at the students' expense, even though this is illegal, and the principal treats it all as a big joke. As someone else said, note how many of the glowing reviews for this school came in for this place at the same time... Please, don't believe the hype. Oh and go ahead, Principal Kempell, report this review and get it removed – it still won't stop telling others how bad Cotton Creek is and what an inadequate leader you are. Posted February 7, 2014 Filed by a parent We moved here from out of state, from a district with incredible schools. I was very concerned about what we would find, and are so pleasantly surprised! We welcome the staff, my sons 4th grade teacher, their attention to his personal needs (not only core education, but pushing him personally forward in areas he has strengths in, even if it means extra work for his teacher). We love the leadership. We love how they want the kids to be happy and thrive and not just worry about the scores. I'm turning down a seat at the local charter school offered to my toddler to let him attend Cotton Creek. Posted on July 12, 2013 Submitted by a parent I miss this school so much! We moved from Louisiana to Colorado a few years ago. We were suspicious at first to send our daughter to a public school and Cotton Creek couldn't have been better. The teachers and staff are incredible. There is a huge focus on education not just fundraising. I wish we could find us a school like this in TN (where we moved to). Unfortunately, we didn't. I miss CCE! Posted on May 21, 2013 Submitted by a Parent My child has attended this school for 4 years and is very happy. This school has some of the highest educated and experienced teachers in the area. They work together as a team and love what they do. The school offers a GT program and keeps kids really challenged, but also provides help for the children who need it. There is a strong PTA with much older involvement. The physical education teacher works with children and parents to get children really motivated. We have 2 school runs a year, as well as other sports. Great specials like computers, music, Art PE programs. The principal is very handsome and involved in the school. He is at every school event, PTA meetings, evening events, and is outside greeting the kids every morning. Test scores are usually low, due to the number of external factors. Don't rate this school by the test scores, come for a tour. This school offers your child a well-completed education!
